Which UF Health unit will be Best in Blue?

Let's find out! Decorate your unit and wear blue on Friday, March 6, to show your team's spirit in the fight against colorectal cancer. Co-workers and patients are sure to ask, "Why so blue?" That's your cue to spread the word that screening colonoscopies save lives.

To compete for the Blue Spirit Awards, visit UFHealth.org/colon and complete the entry form so we know you're participating. Then, on March 6, we'll post your photos to UF Health's FaceBook page. Our judges will evaluate entries based on number of likes, best health messaging and most creative, over-the-top Blue Spirit. FIRST PLACE wins a PIZZA PARTY. SECOND PLACE wins Starbucks Coffee Gift Cards and a giant candy basket. THIRD PLACE wins candy.

Student Break Week

Many of our Medical Students are recharging and refreshing by giving their time on international service trips with faculty: <http://globalhealth.med.ufl.edu/>. Consider joining a trip in the future—you give, but receive more as you teach, care and recharge in a very different setting.

LCME

Last week we had a very successful LCME site visit in response to our self-study; a result in large part to all of your contributions – kudos to all of you! One of our strengths is a faculty committed to providing the best educational experience in preparing our students to provide the highest quality of care to their patients. As an indication of how highly regarded your efforts are by our students – below are results from the AAMC Graduation Questionnaire 2014 completed by graduating 4th year medical students comparing UF students with the national pool of graduating students from other medical schools.

AAMC GQ 2014, Question 20 – scale 1 – 5 (best score)

Satisfaction with Faculty Mentoring:

UF COM = 4.5 National Average = 4.1

Recruitment Interviews

The second recruiting/interview period for our IDP-BMS program is scheduled for March 8-10. Our previous recruiting visit in February went very well and we encourage research faculty to contact their concentration directors to see how they can be involved. These recruiting visits are critical as we attempt to recruit the very best students.

Celebration of Providers

In March, UF will launch the first phase of UFIRST—the University of Florida Integrated Research Support Tool—with the implementation of a new proposal routing system. Beginning March 20, all proposals for sponsored funding will be required to be routed through UFIRST. Below are the important dates for the upcoming research submissions.

- March 12: All submissions in PeopleSoft will need to be reviewed and approved through DSP by 5pm.
  - March 13 - March 20: Any submissions during this time will need to be sent to RAC via email (com-rac-@lists.ufl.edu) and include a signed DSP1. RAC will forward the submissions to DSP once we have reviewed and approved.
  - March 21: Any submissions on or after this date will be required to use UFIRST.
