Office of Faculty Affairs & Professional Development
College of Medicine

OCTOBER 2012

Join the Celebration Today

Today (Friday, October 5, 2012) we will gather to recognize a substantial gift to the College of Medicine that will move us closer to realizing our new medical education building. The ceremony will take place from 2:30 – 3:30 at the planned site of the building, next to eh century oak trees between the McKnight Brain Institute and the HPNP building, directly north of the Academic Research Building.

Refreshments will be served after the presentations. Come to share in the good news - rain or shine.

Have you gotten your Flu shot? – It's free!

This year, all faculty, staff and students can receive a free flu shot during October. You can stop by the Occupational Health offices on the first floor of the North Tower (just west of the ADTU and Atrium elevators) or from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the ARB Founders Gallery on: October 12, 16, 19, 23, 24, 26.

Just bring your UF ID. Please help reduce the impact of this year's flu season by protecting yourself, your family, your patients and your co-workers. It really does make a difference.

Promotion and Tenure Committee Membership

Thanks to all who participated in the process of selecting the 2012-13 members of the Mission-Track and Tenure Track Promotion Committees for the College of Medicine.

The Mission Track Committee was created for review of nominees for promotion to associate professor and professor in the Multi-Mission Track and will be chaired by Kayser Enneking, MD with Christopher Jolley, MD as the vice-chair. The other members are: William Winter, MD, Frank Bova, PhD, Susan Frost, PhD, Constance Haan, MD, Mary Beth Horodyski, EdD, Timothy Morey, MD, Phillip Barkley, MD, Kelley Best, MD, Carolyn

Carter, MD, Linda Edwards, MD, Heather Harrell, MD, Phyllis Hendry, MD, and Andrew Kerwin, MD.

The Tenure Track Committee will assess nominees for promotion to associate professor and professor in the Tenure Track. J. Bert Flanagan, PhD chairs the committee and William Friedman, MD is the vice-chair. The other committee members are: Colin Sumners, PhD, Roger Berthoff, PhD, Mobeen Rathore, MBBS, Richard Schofield, MD, Kevin Brown, PhD Christopher Cogle, MD, George Sarosi, MD, and Sonal Tuli, MD.

These two college level committees play a critical role in the promotion and tenure process by their careful review and equitable application of the promotion and tenure guidelines.
