

UF Health Communications

Media Relations Team

The central media relations team for UF Health Communications works with communicators in UF Health colleges, departments and institutes to assist with media calls, write news releases and feature stories, disseminate news via social media and pitch story ideas to the media. Our goal is to publicize the high-quality, innovative work done at UF Health to a variety of audiences.

If you get a media call, please contact us. We can assist you with any patient privacy issues, escorting media on premises or other media-related issues.

If you have a story idea, please contact us. We can determine how best to maximize the visibility for your story.

If you want assistance in preparing for an interview please contact us. We can help you feel more at ease in an interview setting.
